

The DFD Patch

This patch was created and designed by Captain Scott Millsap. The patch's layout and design reflects the effort and pride that the men and women of the Dalton Fire Department have in their jobs. Our patch is a ever reminding image of our unique and rewarding job.

Maltese Cross

This is a traditional style Maltese cross, having been the historical symbol of the American fire Service for over 200 years. This symbolizes our traditional role as firefighters and the heroic sacrifices by the American firefighters. It also pays reverence to all of our fallen comrades who made the supreme sacrifice in their service to mankind. It is located at the top of the emblem, supported by the trumpets out of respect for its significance.

Star of Life

Symbolizes department movement into the field of rescue and emergency medical care. This is a movement shared throughout, America's fire service. Realizing that our creed "To protect life and property" does not only apply to fire suppression activities but is needed wherever life and property are endangered, our personnel are the insignia of rank for fire service officers. Here, they also represent every firefighters' aspiration of success in his profession.

the Maltese cross (M.A.Z.D.A.T.) is a common symbol for fire departments, and the Maltese cross is a symbol of fire.

They are the first line of defense in the community, and they are the first to respond to emergencies. They are the first to arrive at the scene of an emergency, and they are the first to provide assistance. They are the first to provide first aid, and they are the first to provide fire protection. They are the first to provide fire protection, and they are the first to provide fire protection.
